About This Software

TurnSignal is a small, Free, (Hopefully) minimally invasive VR utility to assist with preventing Headsets Cords from becoming twisted and tangled up.

It utilizes a simple graphic, dubbed The 'Flower', overlaid in-game on your play-space floor, that visually represents your turns by twisting with you!

Since everybody's different, the app includes some settings to help ensure it's not intrusive on anyone's play style!

- Added Menu to Main Window to not waste space!
- A Button Toggle to enable/disable the tools in-game display
- A Button to Reset the utilities Rotation Tracking
- An Opacity / Transparency / Height Setting
- A Scale Setting
- A Twist Rate Setting for manipulating the twist-i-ness levels

- A Toggle to Hide the Main Window
- A Toggle for auto-starting and closing the utility with SteamVR
- A Toggle to use Chaperone Color instead of white (real time too!)
- A Toggle to Link Opacity and Twist'ed-ness together, so it becomes more visible the more twisted you are
- A Toggle to only display the Flower / Floor Overlay when the Dashboard is Open
- A link to Controller Settings Menu, for placing flower on hand instead of the floor
- A Toggle to allow the Flower / Floor Overlay to follow the player, and a speed setting slider

That's All!
Progress is ongoing, and bug / feature requests / feedback is always welcome!
